

SAUERESSIG
UNGRICHT |  surface solutions

Solutions for decorative surfaces.

Expertise and vision

Inspired by design. Driven by technology.

Within SAUERESSIG UNGRICHT, the Matthews International Corporation is bringing together the subsidiaries Saueressig GmbH + Co.KG, UNGRICHT GMBH + CO KG, WETZEL GmbH, Saueressig Design Studio GmbH and DORNBUSCH ENGRAVING GMBH under one umbrella brand.

As the leading international supplier along the pre-press stage as well as rotogravure and embossing cylinders, SAUERESSIG UNGRICHT offers a strong technical expertise. Within the surface sector this is based in the field of tissue and hygiene products, nonwovens as well as wood, flooring and plastics processing industry.

The brand also unites a wide-ranging set of competencies in surface design. These are primarily used in the field of decor as well as in the automotive, leather or wall-paper industry.

With the merger of five traditional family businesses, Matthews combines decades of experience from different surface sectors in one new brand and therefore relies on corporate strength, tradition and reliability.

“TOGETHER WITH OUR CUSTOMERS WE OPEN
A NEW CHAPTER.”

With luxury finishes for an exclusive living environment

Whether wall designs, furniture foils or floorings – we have been developing a variety of surfaces for the home and decor sector for decades. Based on extensive experiences, we manufacture durable printing and embossing tools which are designed to enhance various materials and individually tailored to customer requirements.

To us, the technical characteristics of your products are just as important as visual and haptic effects. Due to the use of state-of-the-art scanning technologies as well as various engraving and coating processes, we realize fine structures in any level of detail and make your products stand out from the crowd.

We give your rooms their own character

The successful development of new designs and the unique sample service are among our company's most important services. With experienced designers and reproduction experts, we support our customers from the initial concept to a market-ready product.

Together, we ensure a nature-identical and high-quality end result – both when printing on decorative paper, foil, vinyl and LVT as well as in the direct printing of wood-based materials, panels and technical surfaces.

Thanks to regular trend analyses and inspirations from fashion, architecture and lifestyle, our designers and carpenters provide the creative competitive advantage.

Design & Technology

surface solutions – from an idea to the final product

Design that inspires. We combine creativity with precision. Down to the finest detail.

Consulting

In personal meetings we advise our customers in all process stages, define relevant target markets and identify solutions for individual requirements. Numerous woods and materials serve as a source of inspiration.

Development & Design

Our creative team of designers and carpenters develops decors and structures based on templates from nature or the minds of our think tank.

Reproduction

Your designs are reproduced faithfully, including two- and three-dimensional surface structures. Always exactly tailored to your individual needs.

Technology that drives. We focus on technical expertise and high quality. In each of our production steps.

Rollers & steel core production

For decades we have been producing printing and embossing rollers for a wide variety of applications as well as steel cores and sleeves especially designed for rotogravure printing.

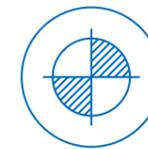

Technical consulting

We provide tailored technical consulting and offer our customers individual solution proposals – goal-oriented and competent.

Production processes

With various manufacturing processes we meet the highest requirements and offer our customers an extraordinary variety of ultra-modern technologies.

Technical centre

Our in-house technical centre provides the opportunity to produce sample collections on your original materials.

We trust in international group strength

As part of Matthews International Corporation, we belong to a strong global network. From our EMEA headquarters in Duisburg, we guarantee excellent development, implementation and coordination of international projects. We are a reliable partner for your business operations across all borders.
